

Angel Birthdays "Behind-The-Scenes"

Thank you for joining the Angel Birthdays
Monthly Newsletter!

Each month, I'll share a little book update, a little healing and a whole lotta love! I'm excited to have you here! As promised, here's your behind-the-scenes look at how Angel Birthdays will be making it's way into bookstores!

Christopher, the owner of Familius Publishing, met with Ingram Distribution this week, the world's largest book distributor. The first video is of Christopher rallying the Ingram sales team before presenting Angel Birthdays and the other 18 Fall Familius titles. :) This sales team is now out selling Angel Birthdays to all of the book stores, gift shops and any other outlet that would like to carry our book! Think happy thoughts that these stores embrace the Angel Birthdays' message too!

The second video is of Christopher showing us Angel Birthdays in print for the very first time. Here he is showing us a galley proof (a lower print quality paperback version of the final book). Ingram will give these out as a leave behind during sales calls to the stores. It's all so exciting. I have been learning so much every single day and find this process fascinating. I thought it would be fun to pass along the experience!

More book and less healing this newsletter but I'll leave you with this...

Be good to yourself always. You deserve your love as much as anyone else. Whatever place you find yourself in today, be compassionate, loving and good to you.

Breathe in through your lungs and out through your heart. Pause. Repeat. Send love to yourself and everyone around you and have a fantastic day!

Love and Blessings,
Erin
